Veteran Hero of the Marines Dies in Alaska

Former Track Star and Four Others Succumb with Him

Navy Reports Fiery Crash of Plane in Sitka Territory

WASHINGTON, July 22 (AP)—The fiery crash of a naval plane near Sitka, Alaska, has claimed the lives of Major General William P. Upshur, veteran hero of the marines, and Captain Charles Paddock, Olympic track star of the twenties who once was acclaimed as the "world's fastest human."

The Navy department reported today that Upshur and Paddock and four other persons were killed when the plane crashed and burned yesterday. There were no survivors, and the navy said that the cause of the accident has not yet been determined.

The names of the planes' four other occupants were not disclosed, pending notification of next of kin. The navy said that the bodies of all passengers and members of the crew have been recovered.

Seasoned Campaigner

Upshur, commanding general of the marines for the Department of the Pacific and a seasoned campaigner who won the congressional medal of honor for service in Italy in 1915, had been in charge of supplying personnel in marine units in the Pacific theater since early last year.

Paddock, 42, had joined the marine corps as an officer July 1, 1942, and had been on General Upshur's staff since that time, serving both as an aide and as departmental morale officer at the Pacific command headquarters. He also was public relations officer for the department until last March.

As a track star in the early twenties, he established ninety-four records, captured the 100 meter Olympic championship in 1920, and led various national championships for the 100 and 200 meter distances in the period between 1920 and 1929.

Strike Endangers Output of Steel

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., July 22 (AP)—The 500 men on the night shift of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation's seventy-seven open hearth furnaces were walked out tonight in a dispute over the discharge of a workman, General Manager Ralph E. High said. Approximately 1,500 men in the open hearth department.

High added that the man had been dismissed "after proper notification" for participating in a "walkout" a few days ago. He said that unless the strike was called by tomorrow, lack of steel from the furnaces would mean closing of several other departments of the seven-mile long plant in which some 15,000 men work.

George Maurice, executive director of district 12, CIO Union Steelworkers, called a conference of the grievance committee and mediators of the state department of labor planned to meet with the strikers at 11 a. m., tomorrow.

British Warships and Planes Hit Hard Blow at Fascist Mainland

By LEWIS HAWKINS
LONDON, July 22 (AP)—A strong force of British warships and planes fired shells and bombs on the coastal city of Crotone, only fifty-five miles below the big Italian naval base of Taranto, early today in the first combined operation by the navy and landed planes against the Fascist mainland.

The blow set a likely pattern of attacks to come in an invasion of proper, although its immediate objective was to cut another line whereby Axis reinforcements

RUSSIAN ARMIES ENGULFING OREL AS NAZI DEFEAT LOOMS

More than 50,000 Germans Killed and 6,000 Captured in Ten-Day Drive for Important Position

LONDON, Friday, July 23, (AP)—Russian armies engulfing Orel's defenses have wiped out a strongly-fortified belt north of the city in a ten-day non-stop offensive that has cost the Germans more than 50,000 killed and 6,000 captured, Moscow announced early today.

With Russian units fighting less than nine miles from Orel on the northeast and within eleven miles on the east, a special bulletin said. Bolkhov, thirty-five miles above the city, had fallen to the onrushing Red army.

Bolkhov already had been bypassed by Red army units racing to take Orel from the rear. The seizure of the stronghold, Moscow said, "finished the liquidation of strongly fortified districts of the enemy north of Orel."

The fall of Orel, which already is within artillery range, would endanger the entire German line extending from Leningrad in the north to the Sea of Azov.

Berlin termed the struggle for the city "the greatest battle of attrition ever fought."

Hit from Three Sides

Striking from three sides the Russian armies seized village after village yesterday in advances of four to five miles, said the special bulletin and the later midnight communique. Successes in the Belgorod sector and the Donets basin to the south also were reported.

The Red air force steadily hammered German troops and supply concentrations at Orel, Karachev and Bryansk in the northwest, and other points in the area.

More than 2,600 Germans were killed and forty-six enemy tanks destroyed in yesterday's fighting, the Russians said.

The Soviet monitor had incorrectly reported the capture of Bolkhov Tuesday night.

Report 350,000 Reds Killed
The German radio, soon after the special Moscow bulletin was issued, countered with an assertion that the Red army had lost more than 350,000 in dead, wounded and captured since July 15.

A Berlin military spokesman, estimating the immensity of the battle raging in Russia, said that a total of 600 divisions—from 7,200,000 to 9,000,000 men—were engaged on both sides.

German propagandists appeared to be concerned with the threatened disaster to the Germans at Orel. (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

Miners Now Ask $3 a Day Raise in All Sections

Seek To Extend Illinois Agreement to Other Fields

Policy Committee Seeking Contracts with Many Operators

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST
WASHINGTON, July 22 (AP)—The United Mine Workers of America offered today to settle their wage differences with the nation's coal operators on the basis of an agreement providing for an eight-hour day, a forty-eight-hour week, and portal-to-portal pay of $1.25 daily for the next two years.

A contract embodying those provisions and providing in effect for an increase of about $3 in a miner's daily "take home" pay, was signed yesterday by the UMW's district twelve and the Illinois Coal Operators Association, to be effective from April 1, 1943, to March 31, 1945.

Applies to 35,000 Men

The contract applies to approximately 35,000 UMW miners in the Illinois fields. The UMW policy committee decided today that the pact would be satisfactory and acceptable for the union's estimated 450,000 workers in the nation's other coal fields.

The policy committee authorized its other districts to negotiate agreements similar to that of district twelve, and union spokesmen said that overtures for contracts already have been made by operators in some of the districts.

The actual signing of additional contracts, however, is expected to be deferred until the War Labor Board passes on the Illinois agreement, which provided also that the contract shall not become effective until the OPA allows increases in coal prices to offset higher production costs. Just how much increase would be necessary was not stated officially, but some operators estimated twenty-five or thirty cents per ton would be sufficient.

Assails Agreement

Concurrent with the policy committee's action, D. W. Buchanan, president of the Old Ben Coal Corporation, Chicago, who helped negotiate the Illinois contract, assailed interpretations of the agreement stating it provided for a $3 daily increase in the average miner's pay.

Buchanan declared that the actual increase would be only $1.95 daily. He arrived at this figure by adding the $1.25 daily portal-to-portal, or non-productive travel, pay to 20 cents previously approved by the WLB for additional vacation and other concessions, and 50 cents premium pay for an extra hour worked each day. While the agreement provides for time and one-half for the eighth hour worked on each of the first five days of a week, Buchanan insisted that the entire $1.50 received for that hour could not be considered an increase, since $1.00 of it represented straight time pay at present rates of $1 an hour, the remaining fifty cents being for overtime.

Buchanan disputed claims of some operators that the concessions already approved by the WLB (Continued on Page 2, Col. 5)

Cleveland Plain Dealer Manager Critically Wounded in Shooting

CLEVELAND, July 22 (AP)—John S. McCarrren, 74, general manager of the Cleveland Plain Dealer and president of the Forest City Publishing Company, today was shot and wounded critically by an assailant who then put a pistol to his head and killed himself.

The shooting occurred in McCarrren's office on the fourth floor of the Plain Dealer building in downtown Cleveland.

Detective Inspector Frank W. Story identified the gunman as Herbert L. Kobrak, 55-year-old Hungarian-born Cleveland resident for some years with German and Hungarian language newspapers here.

McCarrren was taken to St. Vincent's Charity hospital with wounds in the left wrist, right arm and lower left abdomen. After the bullet was removed from the publisher's side, Dr. Oliver W. Weber reported there was "some hope" for McCarrren's recovery.

Kobrak, wounded in the right temple, died at the same hospital thirty-eight minutes after the shooting.

Union Leaders Demand Lower Cost of Living

Green and Murray Plan To Ask Scalp of Prentiss Brown

WASHINGTON, July 22 (AP)—In a virtual ultimatum, leaders of the AFL and CIO today served notice that they would demand the official scalp of Price Administrator Prentiss Brown and an end to the "Little Steel" wage curb formula unless food prices are rolled back promptly.

William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor; Philip Murray, head of the Congress of Industrial Organizations, and other members of the combined Labor War Board conferred with President Roosevelt. They announced later they had submitted a statement declaring that no adequate steps were being taken to reduce prices in line with the president's anti-inflation policy.

Demand Lower Prices

"If your administrators have decided not to carry out in full the program which you proposed and which Congress permits, it will, of course, be impossible for organized labor to continue in its support of the wage and price stabilization program as now formulated," the statement said.

Murray reported that no time limit had been set for the administration to meet labor's demand, but he expressed hope something "satisfactory" would be worked out by the time the group has its next conference with the president at an early date.

Specifically, the union leaders demanded:

Tydings Demands 10 Per Cent Cut in Civilian Army

Senator "Shocked" To Learn Government Employs 3,000,000

WASHINGTON, July 22 (AP)—Senator Tydings (D-Md) demanded a ten per cent reduction today in the civilian army of 3,029,000 persons now employed by the government.

The senator, stating his intention of urging Congress to take action toward slashing the payroll, asserted that he was "shocked" to learn the number of government workers had passed the 3,000,000 mark.

"With a great demand existing for man power," Tydings stated, "Congress must scrutinize all of the agencies of the government and find out which are not justifiable so as to make available extra man power for the war effort and to reduce expenditures."

"It is hard to realize that there are more than 3,000,000 federal employees and it seems to me this great force could be reduced by ten per cent without any damage to the war effort."

He called attention to a recent report by the Civil Service Commission that the number of employees had increased 25,000 in May alone, and he said that most of the gains were in the Agriculture, Navy and War departments.

Tydings said that although other agencies showed a decline of 5,000 in the number of workers, he thought there was room for further cuts in personnel.

Liberators Fly 1,200 Miles To Attack Surabaya

American Planes Also Attack Enemy in Other Sectors

Blast Three Warships near Buin, Bomb Munda Sector

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN THE SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, Friday, July 23, (AP)—Four-engine Liberator bombers have bombed Surabaya, Java, a communique from General Douglas MacArthur's headquarters said today.

Surabaya is a former Dutch naval base. It was captured by the Japanese early in 1942.

The raiding bombers made a round trip of 2,400 miles to attack the great seaport. Their bombs started fires which were visible 140 miles away.

At the other end of the long Southwest Pacific battlefield, heavy bombers attacked three enemy warships near Buin at the southern tip of Bougainville island in the Northern Solomons. Results were not observed.

Raid Munda Again

Another raid on Munda, still heavier than the one of yesterday, also was reported in today's communique. One hundred thirty-five tons of bombs were dropped near the airbase.

In New Guinea, Japanese counterattacks near Komiatum, seven miles inland from Salamaua, were repulsed with heavy losses.

Allied fighters intercepted a superior force of enemy planes over Rendova island near New Georgia, and shot down two of them.

The communique described the attack on Surabaya as a "successful surprise raid on the enemy's main base in the Netherlands East Indies."

Hit Oil Refinery

"Direct hits with 500-pound bombs and incendiaries were scored on an oil refinery, resulting in five large fires," the war bulletin said.

"A dock and nearby warehouses and railway installations were heavily hit with high explosives and incendiaries."

"Raging fires were reported by the combat crews as being visible 140 miles."

"Our planes flew nearly 2,400 miles in the operation. All returned."

Navy Announces Loss of Triton

WASHINGTON, July 22 (AP)—The hard-hitting submarine Triton, credited with destroying more than a dozen Japanese warships and merchant vessels, has been lost. The navy reported tersely today that the undersea raider had "failed to return from patrol operations."

The Triton's total kill included an enemy destroyer leader, a destroyer and a submarine. These, together with eight merchant ships and several smaller craft, were all bagged in the sub's first year of operations. Reports on its accomplishments in recent months are not currently available here but undoubtedly swell the total.

American Deaths in Action Less Than Third of Those of First War

WASHINGTON, July 22 (AP)—American deaths from battle action in the first year and a half of this war are less than one-third the total for the entire period of the first world war.

This was disclosed today in War and Navy department casualty lists which show that since Pearl Harbor, 16,556 men have died in action or from wounds. In the entire period of the first World War—which was approximately the same length as the time this war has been under way — 33,407 deaths were recorded in action or from wounds. But, that ratio cannot be expected to continue. Acting Secretary of War Patterson at a press conference today, declared:

Worst Yet To Come
"It is almost certain that the fighting in immediate prospect is likely to be much heavier than we have thus far experienced. With hard fighting our casualties will mount."

"The period of relative quiet is gone. From this time on the war will proceed at a faster pace and we would do well not to underestimate the (Continued on Page 2, Col. 6)

Germany Changes Plans To Defend Parts of Europe

Now Has Idea of Making Basic Final Stand Deep in Continent

By THOMAS HAWKINS
BERN, SWITZERLAND, July 22 (AP)—Nazi dispatches reaching Switzerland today asserted that Germany is retreating from her long-touted theory of a "European fortress" to an idea of basic, final defense deep within the continent.

Increasingly since the Allies cracked Sicily, the Nazi press has been referring to the "reduit national" to be held to the last, with the current coastal fortifications considered only as outer bastions. (A reduit is a small inner fortification usually at the core of a larger fortress.)

Plan Last Stand
The strategy, as discussed in the Nazi publications, takes into consideration the possible loss of Italy, Southern Greece and France's Atlantic coastline, leaving Germany in a position to make a last stand not only within her own borders, but in the industrially desirable parts of Central Europe.

Allied military observers here warned against any optimistic deduction that the Nazis intend a quick, easily-forced withdrawal. They said the bitter fighting must be anticipated, expressing the conviction that the Nazis will let all Europe become a shambles before ending the battle.

Discussing the "reduit national" idea, the Swiss weekly publication Weltwoche wrote that "the bulk of the German troops, especially stationary weapons, is ready to take up an inner line." Nazi press dispatches indicate that the ultimate "reduit" would concern only Hungary, Rumania, Denmark and Germany—leaving the rest as a sort of no man's land.

Atlantic Wall Completed
Published Allied reconnaissance reports corroborate that work on the Atlantic wall has been virtually discontinued. Sharply cut Nazi cement production figures are another indication of this.

Weltwoche said most of the Todt labor battalions have been moved from the channel to work on new fortifications in the Maginot-Siegfried area. Work is similarly being carried on in the east and in the Black Sea and Danube areas by Bulgaria and Rumania. The publication described concentrations of important industries within the "reduit," and the hasty construction of food and munition depots for "the long wind which will be needed in the war of attrition."

"Mr. McCarens opened the door of his office and came out. He said: 'I've been shot—a crazy man just shot me.' Then he walked into the office of Joseph Madigan, circulation manager, and collapsed."

Later, the publisher told associates Kobrak had come to him for financial help, and that he had helped him previously.

Rushing into McCarens' office, C. C. McConkie, controller for the newspaper, reported finding Kobrak, blood streaming from his temple, sitting in a chair. A .32 caliber pistol lay on the floor near Kobrak's right hand.

From the dead man's brief case, police took a pamphlet titled "Six Nights in Luxembourg," a folded placard printed with "Cleveland Daily Graphic Sheet," and the letter addressed to "Gentlemen of the Press." This letter, Inspector Story said, referred to McCarens as having "blocked Kobrak's newspaper ventures."

Long a Newspaperman
Kobrak came to America from Hungary in 1913 and settled with his parents at Lorain. He worked for a commercial establishment there for a time, and later at Chicago. He started work on a Cleveland foreign language newspaper as an advertising solicitor twenty years ago and later became general manager of the now defunct Consolidated Press & Printing Company, which published various foreign language papers.

Dr. Ervin H. Bolgar, president of Consolidated until it went bankrupt in 1939, said Kobrak habitually carried a gun.

"A chemical works was hit and a fire was started," said a North African naval communiqué. "There were neither Allied casualties nor damage."

Allied motor gunboats, it was disclosed, also made a thirty-mile roundtrip through the narrow strait of Messina between Sicily and Italy last Sunday night—"daring shore batteries" fire.

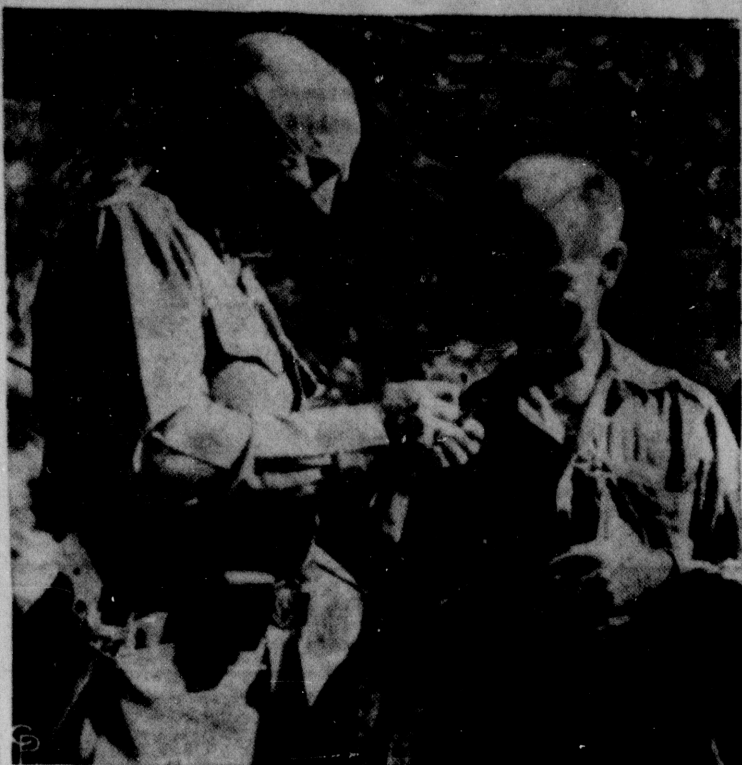

The German radio said today that a day and night shuttle service using thirty-eight fast motor launches was ferrying Axis troops across the strait to reinforce Sicily.

The Allied gunboats, the communiqué said, sank two of three enemy E-boats engaged in their dash through the strait and reported to headquarters that "no enemy shipping was seen north of Messina."

Many Dissatisfied Workers Seek Release from Jobs in Baltimore

BALTIMORE, July 22 (AP)—Dissatisfied workers, whose employers refuse to release them from their jobs, appear daily before War Manpower Commission panel hearings, to air their grievances.

Some are able to satisfy the three-man WMC panel and are permitted to find employment elsewhere; others, unable to give satisfactory reasons for quitting, are sent back to work.

In the latter case, if the employee fails to go back to work he finds himself unable to get a job elsewhere.

But of all the reasons given to justify release from employment—and they are various—there is only one.

to the west gave another northward column a position only about thirty miles south of Palermo.

Ramacca, twenty-two miles southwest of Catania, where Canadian troops were driving remnants of the Fifteenth German armored division toward Mt. Etna, also fell to Allied arms.

British Advancing

Gen. Montgomery's Eighth army has succeeded in inching forward slightly in fierce fighting, today's communiqué from Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's headquarters said.

The battered Hermann Goering armored division, reinforced by fresh Nazi units, including a parachute battalion fighting as infantry, resorted to heavy demolitions of bridges and highways and defense minefields in a desperate effort to impede the progress of Montgomery.

Suffering heavy losses, the Germans were battling to hold Catania and the 10,000-foot peak of Mt. Etna behind the city as an anchor for a fifty-five mile line behind which they intended to make their last-ditch stand for Sicily.

It was apparent that they had transformed the base of Mt. Etna's lava slopes into a formidable position upon which to base a front running northwest to the vicinity of San Stefano Di Camastra on the North coast.

Prisoners Total 40,000

The triphammer blows of the Seventh American army were beating to pieces the last ineffectual remnants of Italian divisions in the north and west and Axis prisoners mounted to more than 40,000.

Engulfed by the twin American waves, the Italian Twenty-sixth Assault division was presumed to have disappeared from the action as a result of the wholesale surrender of its units.

Italian fighting spirit sank almost to zero, with fresh bunches of prisoners telling how their officers were attempting to escape in borrowed civilian clothes. The often resuscitated Tenth Bersaglieri regiment was wiped out of the action for the third time, it was disclosed, when it surrendered at Agrigento without firing a shot.

The communiqué of headquarters lagged more than twenty-four hours behind as Gen. Patton's vanguard raced through difficult but poorly defended mountain country toward Palermo and swept on toward Marsala and Trapani.

Capture 14 Locomotives

Large civil and military stores fell into Allied hands in the capture of Caltanissetta, including fourteen locomotives and 100 railroad cars in good condition, the communiqué said.

The Americans arrived at Castelvetro so swiftly that the installations of that city of 25,000 and its big air base fell into Allied hands undamaged by demolitions.

The city, most populous in Southwestern Sicily, was taken in a pre-dawn infantry charge, and a column of tanks and halftracks, moving at a speed which Gen. Patton said he believed was superior to that of the German war machine in 1939 and 1940, hurried on to exploit the gain.

Sicacca, twenty miles east of Castelvetro, Menfi, midway between the two places, Caltabellotta where the Sicacca airdrome is located, and Bivona, near San Stefano Quinquina, also were taken in the sweep.

Street Railway Strikers Told To Resume Work

If They Don't, War Labor Board Will Take "Necessary Steps"

LOS ANGELES, July 22 (AP)—Union Officials tonight ordered 3,000 striking employees of the Los Angeles Street Railway Company to return to their jobs immediately, following an ultimatum from the War Labor Board that if they didn't, the board would "take whatever steps are necessary."

Union officials said they hoped employees would get some street car service resumed shortly, but that they did not expect full operation of the lines until expiration of the twenty-four-hour work stoppage scheduled to end at 3 a. m. tomorrow.

Efforts to get the men back to work before that hour followed a blunt notice given union leaders by members of the tenth regional War Labor Board that the union should order such a return of the men or the board would "take whatever steps are necessary to assume full compliance with such orders."

The ultimatum followed a meeting of board members, high ranking army, navy, union, company and city officials and was issued by Board Chairman Thomas F. Nelson.

Monsignor Newcomb Upholds Bombing of Rome by Americans

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., July 22 (AP)—The bombing of Rome was "the only common sense thing to do in view of the circumstances," the Rt. Rev. Monsignor James F. Newcomb of St. Joseph's Catholic church said today.

"Certainly Mussolini had plenty of chance and he deliberately made Rome the headquarters for his military work," the pastor declared.

He deplored the reported destruction of the Basilica of San Lorenzo, but said he did not think it could be helped because of its proximity to military objectives.

"Since Rome is not an open city, the Allies were perfectly within their right in bombing it," Monsignor Newcomb said. He added optimistically, "It can be built up again."

General Upshur, a native of Richmond, Va., and graduate of the Virginia Military Institute, entered the marine corps in 1904 as a second lieutenant and, upon his death, was the senior major general in the corps, under only Lieut. Gen. Thomas A. Holcomb.

Served in France

He had served in nearly every marine barracks in the country prior to the outbreak of this war, and with forces in Haiti, Cuba, Santo Domingo, China, France and the Philippines, as well as aboard the U. S. S. California, Maine, Kearnsage, Rainbow and Buffalo.

In France, he saw service first as commander of a military prison at Bordeaux and later as commander of an American guard camp at Bassens.

General Upshur became the first marine corps officer of that rank to die in a plane crash in this war. The navy lost Rear Admiral Robert H. English, commander of submarines in the Pacific, in an air accident off the Pacific coast, while the army has lost several generals in flying disasters, among them Lieutenant General Frank M. "In the tactics of elastic fighting the Germans deliberately refuse to cling to a certain terrain, always adapting operations to the actual situation."

Gain 13 Miles

The capture of Bolkhov represented a thirteen-mile gain after Russian armies overran Telechye. Part of the Red army was swinging wide around Orel to threaten Bryansk, seventy-five miles to the northwest, another German stronghold. Their guns already were reported raking the railway connecting the two fronts, and their obvious strategy was to trap all the Germans fighting at Orel under a rain of Russian shells.

The Germans were hurling reinforcements into battle straight from the march, and also were using great smokecreens in an effort to keep the heavily-gunned Russians from picking off their hedgehog nests protecting Orel. But not once since the Russians began their offensive July 12 has Moscow admitted a halt.

The special bulletin recorded by the Soviet Monitor said that fresh gains of three to four miles had been made in the Belgorod area.

Further south in the Izum sector and southwest of Voroshilovgrad in the Donets basin the Russians also were attacking, but these were termed engagements of "local importance." The battles in these areas probably will increase as soon as the Germans divert any troops to gravely-menaced Orel.

Moscow earlier today had announced that the Red army had captured several villages, greatly improving their positions in the Voroshilovgrad sector.

Taxes Transfers Car to His Wife

Makes Change after His Gasoline Ration Is Revoked

BALTIMORE, July 22 (AP)—State Comptroller J. Millard Tawes, who was deprived of his personal gasoline ration for a year after he admitted misuse of occupational ration fuel, has transferred his personal auto to his wife.

A spokesman for the local War Price and Rationing Board in Crisfield, Md., where the Tawes family lives, said tonight that Mrs. Tawes had not applied for a gasoline ration for the automobile.

W. Lee Elgin, head of the Department of Motor Vehicles, said today that Tawes on July 1 had transferred the auto to his wife, and that new registration plates were issued in her name, Mrs. Helen Avalynne Tawes of Crisfield.

Elgin added that there was nothing unusual in an inter-family transfer.

OPA officials said Mrs. Tawes was entitled to a basic A ration and, if she was engaged in essential work, to supplemental rations.

Tawes' ration for the (Buick) automobile was suspended on June 12 after he admitted driving a state-owned car to Georgia using gasoline allotted to him for occupational driving. He and members of his family made the trip to attend his son's wedding.

His official ration, granted for the state-owned auto, was also suspended but he was later granted another for essential driving.

Too Tall for Army, He Gets Discharge

MACON, Ga., July 22 (AP)—Six feet five and three quarters inches tall at induction, Pfc Carl Smith, 21, of Port Byron, N. Y., and nearby Robins Field army air base, has been honorably discharged because he has grown even taller.

He is now two inches over the maximum allowed by the army. Smith found that his six feet, eight inch frame was too long to fit a regulation army cot.

Since he was unable to get a good night's sleep, a medical board at the base decided to give Smith an honorable discharge.

Miners Now Ask

amounted to twenty-five cents, instead of twenty cents, daily.

Basic Rates Unchanged

The Illinois agreement makes no change in basic pay rates, now averaging $1 an hour for a 35-hour week, and time and one-half for overtime. Many miners have been working forty-two hours weekly, bringing their weekly "take home" under the old contract to $45.50.

Under the new agreement, a miner working the full forty-eight hours will take home $63.50 weekly, including his travel pay and other concessions and time and one-half pay for all hours over thirty-five.

Buchanan explained that the agreement did not constitute a binding acceptance by either the union or the operators of the portal-to-portal figure named in the contract, but merely settled claims for the travel pay between October 1, 1938, when the union contends it legally became due, and April 1, 1945, when the new agreement expires.

While the War Labor Board pondered its course with respect to the new contract, spokesmen for Appalachian and Southern Appalachian area operators demanded that the board take action to enforce its June 18 directive to the miners and the operators to enter into an agreement along lines laid down by the board.

Obviously impatient to regain operation of their properties which the government took over after the last walkout, the operators sent a letter to WLB Chairman William H. Davis urging "some action on your part." It was signed by R. L. Ireland, Jr., for the Operators' Negotiating committee of the Appalachian joint conference, and Edward R. Burke for the Southern Appalachian committee.

Criticize Board

"What merit is there in your taking jurisdiction of a wage dispute and making a finding if you do not obtain compliance with your order?" they asked. "What justification have you for existence of those parties to disputes who carry out your orders to the letter while the culprit dictates the terms of seizure? What industry or union can respect your board if it continues to pursue its present course of conduct?"

"We feel that we have been patient too long," they concluded. Ireland said operators in other areas had nothing to say about the Illinois agreement and would wait to see what the WLB and OPA decided. He said he knew of no operators outside the Illinois area negotiating a similar contract.

barges, destroying one and forcing the others ashore.

Numerous skirmishes were reported from the Komiatum area. The Allied forces were supported by medium and heavy bombers which dropped ninety-three tons of bombs on enemy positions and machine-gunned bivouac areas from low altitude.

Allied planes flew 250 sorties in direct support of ground troops in the Munda area, repeatedly strafing the enemy.

WLB Takes Baton In Hope It Can Bring Out Music

Board May Name Investigator To Probe Juke Box Dispute

WASHINGTON, July 22 (AP)—Over protests of James C. Petrillo and his American Federation of Musicians, the War Labor Board picked up the baton today in an attempt to end the discord caused by the union's refusal to make radio transcriptions.

Assuming jurisdiction in the dispute between the federation and radio transcription companies, WLB is expected to name an investigator or a three-man panel to inquire into the "canned" music quarrel.

Score Note for Union

This union has sought to avoid, for if WLB finds that a strike exists it could then order the musicians to return to work pending a settlement.

The union contends its members are not on strike, that no labor controversy exists, and that the board lacks jurisdiction. Petrillo said at a recent board hearing that his men just decided to quit working for the transcription companies.

Stopped Recordings

The short, stocky Chicago man who has headed the union since 1940, halted the recording of popular music for commercial use Aug. 1, 1942 by forbidding the federation's 138,000 members to play for records or electrical transcriptions for radio stations or juke boxes. These recordings, he asserted, contributed to unemployment of his musicians.

The National Association of Broadcasters contended that Petrillo's action was motivated "only by the desire to make his dictatorship over the field of music all inclusive."

Gigantic Reservoir Of Funds Accumulating

WASHINGTON, July 22 (AP)—The Commerce department estimated tonight that liquid assets of individuals and businesses may increase as much this year as the $50,000,000,000 gain experienced during the two preceding years together.

Liquid assets are regarded as savings, including war bonds, bank deposits and idle money.

"Should the war continue two years or longer," the department added, "this huge reservoir of accumulated funds is certain to grow by further tens of billions."

Pointing to the postwar inflationary potentialities of this "prospective mountain of accumulated liquid assets," a department statement said the "danger can be avoided chiefly by placing the further financing of the war as large as possible on a pay-as-you-go basis, which is the declared policy of the federal government."

Nebraska Soldier Drowns in Quarry

HAVRE DE GRACE, Md., July 22 (AP)—Pvt. Edward L. Colwell, 27, of Lincoln, Neb., was drowned in a quarry near here late today.

Post officials at the nearby Aberdeen proving ground, where Colwell was stationed, are investigating his death.

Kelly Employees Are Buying Bonds

Quite a number of Kelly tire employees are currently allotting a good deal more than ten per cent of their pay checks for the purchase of savings bonds, according to P. D. Collins, vice-chairman of the local War Finance committee.

He cited, as an example, one employee in the shell production division who has requested that over sixty per cent of each pay check be applied against the purchase of bonds. That means he is getting at least one good-sized bond every month, and sometimes more.

In addition, since the first of the year, he has paid in cash for two large denomination bonds. Besides this, his wife, who is employed downtown, is also buying bonds on her own account.

enemy's capabilities, or to underrate the losses that we will incur."

Casualty records of the present war include 31,343 men listed as missing in action—some may be dead and some prisoners, but until the war's end their exact fate may not be told. They include 10,267 navy, marine and coast guard personnel and 21,076 soldiers.

Breakdown of Casualties

Of the known dead, 8,412 are navy, marine and coast guard men who died either in battle or from wounds and 8,144 are army men.

In the first World War the total of deaths in action or from wounds included 2,897 navy and marine personnel (coast guardsmen are not included in those figures) and 50,510 members of the army.

Over-all casualties of the army—dead, wounded, missing and prisoners of war—thus far in this war, total 65,136 acting Secretary Patterson told his press conference. In the previous war that over-all figure for the army was approximately four times as large, or 248,589.

Similar figures are not available for the navy for the first World War, but in the current conflict the over-all figure including wounded, missing and prisoners total 27,284 for the navy, marine corps and coast guard.

these FURS
this JULY

We hope your husband reads this ad. We hope the two of you talk it over, and that he comes in with you to see these furs. After all, a fur coat isn't a casual purchase — it's a family affair. Your husband may wonder if there isn't a better way to invest family funds these days. We'll tell him frankly that the ONLY better investment we know of is War Bonds and Stamps. Next to a War Bond, a good fur coat is as sound and sensible an investment as can be made — in long wear, in warm protection and healthful comfort, in smart good looks. We don't remember ever offering finer furs or a choicer collection than we have right now . . . listed below are a few highlights from this superb collection:

- ... Leopard Cat
- ... Persian Paw
- ... Mink-blended Muskrat
- ... Ocelot
- ... Indian Lamb
- ... Sable-blended Muskrat
- ... Raccoon
- ... Sable-blended, Black, Natural and Rare Opossum
- ... Raccoon-blended Opossum
- ... Silvered Raccoon
- ... Russian Cat
- ... Norwegian-dyed Fox

P.S.—of course, if you can't afford to buy enough War Bonds and Stamps, you can't afford to buy a new fur coat.

Whether you pay cash for your furs, or purchase them on our Layaway or Budget Plans, we'll store them for you, without charge, until November 1.

Maryland's Workmen's Compensation Law Highly Praised

BALTIMORE, July 22 (AP)—Maryland has one of the six best workmen's compensation laws of the 47 states having such status, as a result of amendments which became effective June 1. State Chairman Charles E. Moylan of the Industrial Accident Commission said today.

The Free State now occupies the sixth position by the new method of rating used by the national council on compensation insurance. "Prior to the 1941 session of the General Assembly of Maryland," Moylan said, "the National Council on Compensation Insurance in a thoroughgoing analysis of the workmen's compensation laws of all forty-seven states with such statutes rated Maryland as twelfth in the comparative liability of its benefit provision for workers injured in industrial accidents."

Moylan said that among the factors which placed the state in its high rank were: a waiting period of only three days before a disabling injury becomes compensable; double compensation exacted from employers who hire minors illegally; payment to the injured workers of two-thirds of his average wages for the scheduled number of weeks for the particular type of injury; the fact that appeals from a decision of the Accident Commission to the courts is not a "stay" on the weekly payments of compensation awarded by the commission.

Washington County Fruit Crop Good

HAGERSTOWN, Md., July 22 (AP)—Washington county fruit growers looked forward today to large profits from this season's apple and peach crops.

A grower said that although only a fifty per cent apple crop was expected, prices paid for the fruit now on the market were compensating orchardists financially for the scant crop.

Washington county is among the country's few peach-growing areas with a normal crop this year. The great demand for peaches was indicated by one orchard company which reported that six weeks ago it sought to place orders for the fruit from as far off as Kansas.

PLANE SPOTTERS BOOST POST

MEMBERS of the Tunis Mills aircraft observation post in Talbot county weren't satisfied with their quarters, which was located in town, for one thing and too close to the ground for another. The new post is located on the highest rise in the community and twenty-two feet higher in the air due to the efforts of John Bailey who donated the site and drew the plans; Mrs. McNeal Shannahan, who contributed the lumber; Mrs. S. T. Plummer, who supplied the nails and bolts, and the labor of other members who volunteered to help out.

Two Navy Captains Receive Crosses

WASHINGTON, July 22 (AP)—A rear admiral and two navy captains have been awarded navy crosses by Secretary Knox for heroism during the battle of Lunga point in the Solomon island area on the night of November 30, the navy reported today.

Those decorated were Admiral Mahlon S. Tisdale, whose wife lives at Carval Hall hotel, Annapolis, Md.; Captain Frank L. Lowe, whose wife lives in Washington, D. C., and Captain Clifford H. Roper of Berkeley, Calif.

Admiral Tisdale was commander of a cruiser division in the battle. His citation said that when he succeeded to command of the task at one stage of the fighting, he continued the firing until all enemy ships within range were destroyed and then conducted a "bold and vigorous search for enemy vessels along the probable routes of retreat."

Captain Lowe, commander of a cruiser, was credited with skill and determination which "contributed in large measure to the destruction of all enemy vessels within gun range."

The first dictionary in the world was in the Chinese language.

CAN'T KEEP GRANDMA IN HER CHAIR

She's as lively as a youngster—Now her Backache is better

Many suffer from nagging backache, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 2 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sensations—shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Child Care Unit To Be Organized

BALTIMORE, July 22 (AP)—A child care division of the State Department of Public Welfare will be organized immediately after selection of a division director in merit system examinations, State Director J. Milton Patterson announced today.

Creation of the child care division to take over a number of duties previously assigned to other state agencies was provided by the 1943 General Assembly, as was expansion of the board of public welfare from seven to nine members.

Two additional members of the board, named today by Governor O'Connor, were James M. Hepburn of Baltimore and Ernest O. Wheatley of Salisbury. Hepburn was chairman of the Commission of Juvenile Delinquency which prepared the legislation, and has served as executive director of the Baltimore community fund.

Hagerstown Running Short of Water

HAGERSTOWN, Md., July 22 (AP)—Superintendent Albert Heard

has announced that unless there are some heavy rains within the next week, Hagerstown will have to utilize its Potomac river pumping station for its entire water supply.

The present capacity of the Potomac river station is only slightly more than the daily consumption here.

The reservoir which is the principal source of the city's mountain water supply is so low that it must be cut off unless there are rains.

Hunts for Teachers

DENTON, Md., July 22 (AP)—W. Stewart Fitzgerald, Caroline county school superintendent, toured nearby colleges today in search of high school teachers to fill vacancies in his county.

Pre-marriage health examination laws were adopted this year by Missouri, Nebraska, Idaho and Wyoming, extending statutory protection against syphilis to brides and bridegrooms of thirty states.

Electric cables with four spiraling wires, over which three telephone and four telegraph messages may be transmitted at the same time, are used in the army field service.

Revival Will Be Held in Summit
Mills Church*Services Will Open Aug. 1
with the Rev. James Beahm Preaching

MEYERSDALE, Pa., July 22 — An evangelistic campaign will be conducted in the Summit Mills Church of the Brethren, of which the Rev. J. C. Beahm, Grantsville, is pastor, commencing Sunday, August 1, and continuing each evening and Sunday mornings, closing with the semi-annual lovefeast on Sunday evening, August 15, at 7 o'clock.

The evangelist is the Rev. James H. Beahm, Bremen, Ind., youngest son of the pastor. There will be special music and congregational singing at each service, conducted by N. C. Gnagay, chorister, accompanied by Miss Pearl Maust, pianist.

The inquest into the death of Henry Stull, Dunbar, who died as the result of a sawmill boiler explosion May 12 at nearby Will's church, will be conducted Friday evening by Coroner Philip C. Dosch. Delay in holding the inquest was due to the seriousness of the injuries of Lloyd Shultz, son of the owner of the sawmill, Denver Shultz, Connelville. Young Shultz suffered a fractured pelvis, other injuries and burns, when the explosion occurred. About a month ago he was released from the hospital, but was in bed until recently when Coroner Dosch set the date for the inquest.

Stull's body was blown to bits, and three others besides Lloyd Shultz were also injured. The result of the inquest seems to hinge on the condition of the boiler at the time of the explosion. It is announced that an unusually large number of witnesses have been summoned to testify.

Charles Walker, 70, for many years employed in the mines of the local coal region, died this afternoon in the Wenzel hospital where he had been a patient for several days. Mr. Walker retired several years ago and had been living with his daughter, Mrs. Clay Newman, who, with her husband, conducts the Big Savage Hotel on Route 40, several miles west of Frostburg.

Mt. Savage Observers Will Receive Awards for Outstanding Service*Board of Directors Will Arrange for Presentation Soon

MT. SAVAGE, July 22 — Members of the Mt. Savage Ground Observation Corps, Aircraft Warning Service, were notified last night that the local observation post would be inactivated beginning at midnight last night until further notification. The announcement was made by Chief Observer Robert Kirby at a meeting in the Mt. Savage high school auditorium. The order to inactivate was issued by Col. B. M. Hovey, commanding officer of the Philadelphia air defense wing. However, the order stated that the post must be ready to assume active twenty-four-hour a day duty on instant notice.

Kirby read the names of all observers at the local post, stating the number of hours each had served. There are approximately 160 observers here and a large number have served over 100 hours. Several are eligible for the award for 250 hours served, which is given to observers who serve that number of hours and possess a certificate signifying that they have completed the recognition course in aircraft warning.

Kirby then stated that awards of various degrees were available for observers meriting them. All of the local observers are eligible for the wing pin, which signifies three months of continual service at the observation post. Medals will also be awarded to all "spotters" who have performed outstanding acts in the line of duty at the post.

The Mt. Savage Post is located on the top of Church Hill. The building was formerly the club house of a group of boys on Fire Clay mountain. The entire club enlisted in the armed forces shortly after the war began and they gave the building to the observation corps until their return to civilian life.

Beside Chief Observer Kirby, other local officers are Stewart Church, vice president; Mrs. Rose Cooley, treasurer; Mrs. Edna Church, secretary; Mrs. George Shaffer, recognition officer and Miss Catherine O'Rourke, public relations officer. The Board of Directors, which had charge of improvements to the post and arranging the schedules, consists of Robert Kirby, Stewart Church, Edward Snyder, Joseph Wilhelm, Mrs. Dorothy Shaffer and Miss Catherine O'Rourke.

The directors will meet within the next week to determine the presentation of awards.

A party for the benefit of St. Patrick's Catholic church will be held tomorrow (Friday) evening at 8:30 o'clock in the parish hall.

Pvt. Eugene Snyder, Camp Edwards, Mass., is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Snyder.

His grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Sloan, State street, Lonaconing, and Mr. and Mrs. George Allan, Klondike, also survive. The body will be taken to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sloan pending the father's arrival.

Joseph H. Blanding, chairman of the state committee, making the announcement today, said the change in procedure, necessitated by lack of congressional appropriations, will make possible a twenty per cent reduction in county AAA personnel.

Negro Housing Project Arouses Opposition

EDMONSTON, Md., July 22 (AP)—The Prince Georges' county commissioners planned today to request the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad to move its temporary housing project for negroes now located here.

The request was instigated by opposition of residents of Edmonston and surrounding areas to such a project, the commissioners said. An ordinance about two weeks ago after the railroad company explained that the workmen could not be transported to and from Washington each day.

If the railroad refused to move the project, the commissioners planned to hold another hearing on Tuesday in the Upper Marlboro courthouse.

Residents claimed erection of the project would lower real estate value and create racial friction.

Greenstreet Discovers
'Nobody Loves a Fat Man'

"Nobody loves a fat man," according to a popular adage.

If that is true it may explain, in part, just why Sydney Greenstreet has turned to villainy in his motion picture work. He specializes ed in comedy roles on the stage for some forty years but in motion pictures he started out as a suspicious character in "The Maltese Falcon" and he has continued that way ever since.

During the filming of "Background to Danger," at the Liberty theater, Director Raoul Walsh and the head cameraman had some small difficulties with Greenstreet's shadow, which is at least as big as he is and sometimes bigger. He eclipsed George Raft, his co-star, everytime he got near him in a scene and there were many good-natured but sharp remarks made by all concerned about the need for a light that could be bent around Greenstreet, and—on Raft's part—about the moon, Greenstreet, eclipsing the sun which George insisted he was playing.

Charley Peterson To Play for Army Men in Alaska

Billiard Veteran Appears in Remote Camps All over the Country

By FRANK GRAHAM

Charley Peterson, the world's greatest fancy shotmaker in billiards, was in town for a couple of days. Then he was off again, this time to California for a rest. He said he didn't know how long he would be there. He's waiting to hear from the army when he is to start for Alaska.

This will be the next stopping place in the perambulations of this slight, balding veteran of the cue and the clicking ivorys who, since even before Pearl Harbor, has devoted his amazing talents solely to the benefit of the men... and women... of the services. He has given 1,400 shows at more than 400 forts, camps, naval, marine and coast guard stations. He has played at bases that no one outside the services ever has heard of.

"The last time I was in California," he said, "I was kidding Bing Crosby. I said to him: 'You only play big camps. Why don't you go to places like... well, for instance, Depot Bay, where I'm going next week?'"

"Tell me where it is," Bing said, "and I'll go."

"And I said, 'I don't know where it is, maybe. I'll tell you when I get back.'"

Missed One Appointment

At 65, Charley Peterson has more zing than most men forty years his junior. He'd have to have that, plus a life-long love of billiards, to keep going at the pace he cut out for himself more than two years ago.

Barring the table, he carries all his equipment—and it seemed necessary he'd make a stab at carrying the table, too.

In the thousands of miles he has traveled—and he has hit the four corners of the country and most of the places in between—he has missed only one appointment.

He was playing an army camp in the state of Washington and one of the officers said to him:

"There's a coast guard station on an island in Puget sound that nobody ever goes to. Those kids have been out there for a year with no entertainment whatever except what they can get over the radio. Would you go out there?"

And Charley said: "With pleasure. How do I get there?"

"On one of our boats," the officer said.

So they set out at nightfall. Charley, a captain and the pilot. But the pilot was new and didn't know his way very well and the captain, who thought he had better than a hazy notion of the direction in which the island lay, became confused, once they were out on the dark waters.

"That was the most uncomfortable night I ever spent," Charley said. "The weather turned cold and, as there was very little shelter on the boat, we were drenched with spray and every now and then we would hit a big wave that would roll over the deck. The worst part of it was that we never did find the island but got back to the mainland about 4 o'clock in the morning and all I could think of was those kids out on the island, who had been told we were coming and probably were thinking I didn't care enough about them to go through with the trip."

Will Use Oval Table

When Charley goes to Alaska he is going to ship his oval table there, he said.

"An oval table?"

"That's right," he said. "Didn't you ever hear of my oval table? Some of the New York baseball writers were responsible for that. A few years ago, when they would get to St. Louis with the Giants, they would always come down to my place in the evenings to play a few games and one night one of them said:

"You have a nice layout here, Charley. In fact, you have everything but an oval table."

"He meant it as a joke, of course, but I said:

"The next time you come back I'll have one for you."

"He thought I was joking but I wasn't. Years before, I had seen one that some fellow had built for fun, so I had one knocked together for them when they came back. They were delighted when I made the same shots on it that I make on an ordinary table. I have had a lot of laughs with it in the years since then and you can bet those boys in Alaska are going to see it."

In an embarkation camp near Seattle some months back, Charley had a new experience—his audience walked out on him just as he was about to start his show.

"I had been told the show would be a late one because there was some uncertainty about when the boys would be allowed to gather for it," he said. "Finally, about 10 o'clock, we were all ready. The mess hall, where they had placed the table, was crowded, and I had given the boys my opening spiel, outlining some of the shots I would show them, and was just moving toward the table when an officer came in. He gave a command and the boys got up and marched out—and there I was, all alone, save for a special services officer. Naturally, I was bewildered."

"Where are they going?" I asked the officer. He looked at me in silence for a moment and then he said:

"To Attu."—Consolidated News Features.

Phillies Defeat Pirates Twice; Rowe Wins First

Philadelphia Takes Opening Game 1 to 0 and Nightcap 9 to 6

PITTSBURGH, July 22. (AP)—Lynwood (Schoolboy) Rowe put the Philadelphia Phillies back in winning stride today as he blanked the Pirates, 3-0, in the first game of a doubleheader, and his mates followed through with a 9-6 victory over the Crosairs in the nightcap.

The two victories evened the series, the Pirates having won the previous two.

Rowe allowed nine hits but was invincible in the pinches. Twice he retired the side after the first man up doubled and was stranded on second. In the ninth the Pirates filled the bases but Al Lopez grounded to the one-time schoolboy for the final out.

Rowe started a rally on his own behalf in the third inning which produced two runs. He singled and was sacrificed by Danny Murtaugh.

Jimmy Wadell, singled to right, scoring Rowe and moved to second on the throw to the plate. Wadell went to third as Croaker Triplett went out, and romped home on Ronnie Northey's double to right.

Babe Dahlgren ended the attack with a foul to Lopez.

The Phils collected eleven hits off Max Bitter, who was lifted for a pinch-hitter in the eighth. Johnny Podgajny yielded the Phils' other hit.

The second game was a ding-dong battle until the ninth. Then, with the score tied at three-all, the Phils hopped on Hank Gornicki and Xavier Rescigno for six hits and six runs. Murtaugh got two hits during the rally. The Pirates came back in their half of the ninth with three runs.

Al Rubeling, new infielder acquired from Toronto, made his debut for Pittsburgh as a pinch-hitter and singled to score a run and later tallied on Maurice Van Robay's single.

Cincinnati Whips Brooklyn 5 to 0

CINCINNATI, July 22. (AP)—Bucky Walters finally won his fifth victory of the season for the Cincinnati Reds tonight, clamping down on the Brooklyn Dodgers for a 5 to 0 decision.

Bucky, who has lost ten, started off rockily, walking three in the first inning. But Arky Vaughan was picked off second base, and Bucky got the other two outs on easy chances. Then Bucky turned on the heat and climaxed his three-hit job by fanning the side in the eighth.

Meanwhile the Reds started early on Curt Davis, scoring one in the first on Lonnie Frey's safe bunt, Davis' wild throw thereon, and an infield play. They added one in the second on Albie Glossop's fumble, a sacrifice, and Walters' own single.

Another came in the fifth on Gee Walker's double and Max Marshall's single, the last two in the sixth when Eric Tipton singled, Eddie Miller sacrificed, Ray Mueller doubled, and Glossop fumbled for a second time on Walters' ground-out.

It was the Dodgers' fourth shutout defeat of the year.

Yankees Spot Browns Three Runs but Win

Defeat St. Louis 9 to 5; Keller Hits Homer with Two on Bases

NEW YORK, July 12. (AP)—The Yankees spotted the St. Louis Browns a three-run lead today, then exploded for five unearned runs in the fourth inning, added three more on Charley Keller's homer in the sixth and waited in with a 9 to 5 decision.

The defeat dropped the Browns back into the American League's second division as the loop leaders combed a pair of Brownie elbows for fourteen hits. The St. Louis sluggers made it a clouting party all the way around by thumping Atley Donald and Johnny Murphy for a dozen safeties, including Vern Stephens' fourteenth homer of the year and Frankie Hayes' first round tripper.

Murphy received credit for his eighth victory, after Donald had been knocked out in the fifth when the Browns were in the middle of a one-run uprising as the result of a single and Chet Laabe's 430-foot double.

The Browns got off in front when Stephens whacked his homer with a mate on base in the first frame. Don Guttridge doubled and Jim Byrnes singled for another marker in the third.

Roy Weatherly's double sent over the first Yankee run in the third. Then in the fourth, the Bombers got a "life" on Mike Chartak's fumble and before the shooting stopped they had batted around, driven Bob Muncie to the showers and gone in front to stay. The big blow of the frame was Donald's two-run double.

Keller's four-bagger—his twelfth of the season—followed singles by Murphy and Bud Metheny and was just more icing on the cake for the Yanks.

Count Fleet Will Take Vacation For the Summer

Will Not Get Back into Action until This Fall's Galloping

NEW YORK, July 22. (AP)—Count Fleet kissed $130,000 good-bye today and decided to take a vacation for the rest of the summer.

From a source close to Mrs. John D. Hertz's barn—who asked that his name be withheld—it was learned that the tall triple crown champ, who injured an ankle seven weeks ago and has been laid up ever since, won't get back into action until this fall's galloping.

Thus he'll not only miss the Arlington Classic this weekend, as owner Hertz, himself, announced a couple of weeks ago, but it turns out that the closest he'll get to the rich American Derby and the Travers next month will be to read about them in his favorite newspaper.

ANKLE HAS FULLY RECOVERED

"The Count's ankle has recovered completely," the informant in the Hertz barn explained today, "but don't forget he has laid off for more than thirty days. And no horse who was trained as 'tight' as the Count can take that much time off and come back without a long training grind. He's galloping now, but he can't possibly be ready before the fall—probably the Belmont meeting in September."

The three big summer jackpots—the Classic, American Derby and Travers—total roughly $130,000 to the gee-gee who gets to the paying teller's window first. And no one who saw the Fleet steam in with the Kentucky Derby, Preakness and Belmont last spring figured there was any more question about the mid-summer shindigs than the distances he'd win by. These have been variously predicted at anywhere from a city block to two laps around the fat lady in the circus.

Now, although the Count's vacation practically tosses his

Cardinals Are Hard Hit Now By Injuries

Southworth Says Team Must Have Good Hitting and Defensive Play

ST. LOUIS, July 22 (AP)—Old man injury has been an unmentionable to the St. Louis Cardinals for some years but this season he's thrown in with the armed services to pluck the Redbird right down to its pin feathers.

Together they've de-staffed as fine a corps of moundmen as ever haunted opposing batsmen, leaving available for duty four pitchers out of an original nine and a rookie untried in Major League circles.

The army air forces have taken young Howie Pollet, whose last three performances were shutouts. Harry Brecheen goes up for induction Monday. Ernie White has burst in his contract shoulder; Max Lanier has a muscular strain and just when veteran Harry Gumbert started off in high gear he came down with a dead arm.

That leaves reliable "stop" pitcher Mort Cooper, Murry Dickson, Howard Krist and George Munger—the latter two relief pitchers. In addition, Manager Billy Southworth has called in Alpha Brazier from Sacramento of the Pacific Coast League.

There was a time when Southworth, despite numerous injuries to his players, could take solace in the comforting fact he had one of the best rounded pitching staffs in either league to fall back on.

In 1941, when the Cards were so riddled with injuries they played through to the last days of July before fielding a complete first team, the hurlers kept the club in the running. The same held true of the World Champions last season. The Redbirds had so many pitchers the management was forced to sell exceptional talent.

But this year it's different. In fact, Billy the Kid says he has only two or three men in the farm system he can call on if worst comes to worst.

"It's a problematical situation," Southworth commented gloomily today. "Our injured boys may kick back and be ready to take their turn. Right now they are of no use."

"We were hit pretty bad in turn. Right now they are of no use. Pittsburgh. Even though we took two from the New York Giants yesterday, they hit us hard. Good offensive and defensive play saved us. Relief Pitcher Munger, who pitched his first full game in the Giant opener, will be taking a regular turn now, at least until the other boys get better."

"We'll need to continue to get good hitting and good defensive play to hold our lead. I'm not going to spare the horses. Bad off as we are, I'll use every pitcher in one game, if necessary, to win. I believe we can come through."

Cardinals Beat New York 6 to 2

ST. LOUIS, July 22 (AP)—Big Mort Cooper pitched his thirteenth win of the season tonight as the St. Louis Cardinals defeated the New York Giants 6 to 2 before a crowd of 16,999. Whitey Kuroski homered in the first inning with two men on base after the Giants had scored their two tallies on a double by Ernie Lombardi.

Russian Advance Greatest Worry For the Germans

Hitler Facing Major Disaster in Central Sector

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

The deadly Anglo-American trap developing in Sicily is ominous enough for the Axis, but Hitler is threatened with an even greater disaster in Central Russia, where Red armies are tightening a noose about Orel.

With the indicated early fall of that vital link between the South and Central German fronts in Russia, the whole line from Vitebsk in the north to Tanagerog in the South should begin to buckle. The collapse of the Orel redoubt would expose the Bryansk pivot to the same triple attack technique that has all but nipped a quarter million enemy troops in the Orel trap.

And with Bryansk tottering or even closely invested the whole line south of the Lovat and east of the Dnieper would be endangered. Hitler is that close to his greatest defeat and his most risky retreat at the very moment that the southern gates of his European fortress are starting to crumble in Sicily.

Current reports from Moscow place Russian forces only five miles north of the double rail link connecting Bryansk and Orel at a point about mid-way between those two bastions of the German front. Russian heavy guns have certainly had that supply line of the Orel salient under devastating fire for several days. The advance down the Vitebsk river valley from the crest of the Oka watershed has brought Red troops almost within sight of Kerachev. That town lies thirty miles east of Bryansk and through it pass the rail routes between Bryansk and Orel. Heavy air bombing of Kerachev to supplement the ground attack is reported.

Southwest of Orel, on the upper perimeter of the Kursk bulge which the Nazis failed dismally to smash, other Red legions are forging southward, obviously aimed at a junction with comrades driving down on Kerachev to snap shut the Orel trap. They are astride both rail outlets from Orel to Kursk and Kharkov. Formerly these outlets, together with the Orel-Bryansk connections, made Orel a main station of the German front line feeder system.

It has lost that value now. The Orel garrison has no adequate road or rail supply line which is not seriously threatened by advancing Russian forces.

Start Twin Threat
In the light of this indicated situation on the north and south faces of the salient, developments in the center, east and northeast of Orel itself, take on a significant meaning. The most notable Russian advances yesterday were recorded there. They took Optukha, on the Orel-Tula railroad, only five miles from the outskirts of Orel itself, and Zolotarevo, on the Rel-Yelets line to the south, only eleven miles from Orel, in a twin thrust at the apex of the salient.

The Nazi surrender of those two eastern outposts for Orel hints that an attempted retreat from the whole salient may be impending or in progress. As at Stalingrad and in every other Russian offensive, the direct frontal push in the center is obviously a holding operation. It is designed to pin the Orel garrison to its apex defenses while the north and south jaws of the trap close in behind it. That was what happened at Stalingrad, to make it the greatest German disaster of the war to date.

Boston Braves Defeat Chicago

CHICAGO, July 22 (AP)—The Boston Braves today broke the spell the Cubs held over them all season when they defeated the Chicago team 8 to 6 and 3 to 2, before a crowd of 10,365. The Cubs previously had beaten the Braves nine straight.

The Braves sewed up the first game with a five-run fourth inning which blasted Paul Derringer off the mound, but which also cost them the services for an indefinite period of first baseman Johnny McCarthy. McCarthy, sliding into home plate with the third run of the inning, fractured his right ankle.

The Braves got only eight hits off Derringer, Eddie Hanyzewski, Paul Erickson and Johnny Burrows, but they bunched four of them to get three walks in the game-winning fourth. The Cubs made eleven hits off Al Javery, Danny MacFayden and Dave Odom. Javery was knocked out in the first eighth by arguing with Umpire Al Barlick.

The Braves won the second game when they came from behind to score two runs in the ninth inning on Butch Nienan's double and two errors by Len Merdillo.

Red Barrett won his seventh victory of the season with a six-hit performance which was matched by Bill Lee.

272 Restaurants Have Filed Menus With Price Panel

Prices Prevailing April 4 to 10 Become Maximum Monday, July 26

Two hundred and seventy-two restaurants and eating places in Allegany county have filed menus, bills-of-fare and price lists with the Cumberland War Price and Rationing Board in conformity with OPA regulations. Karl W. Radcliffe, chief clerk, announced yesterday.

Prices in all of these restaurants and eating places are "frozen" by a July 19 regulation to the prices which were charged by each seller during the base period of April 4 to 10, 1943. This freeze regulation will go into effect on Monday, July 26.

Become Maximum Prices

The prices filed by the eating places with the local board become the maximum prices which may be charged for each item by that seller on and after next Monday.

Radcliffe pointed out that General Order No. 50, dated April 11, required each seller to maintain his records for the base period and to file with the board true copies of these records.

Price panels are required to have in their files a menu for each meal served during the week if that place of business had a separate menu for each meal. This would mean twenty-one separate menus. The board is required to have seven menus for places having one menu for each day in the week covering all meals. Some eating places have a standard menu which is unchanged from day to day. In that case, one menu, if it is complete, covers the requirements.

Waring Sounds Warning

Stewart Waring, price executive of the Maryland district office of the OPA, Baltimore, warned yesterday that any restaurants or eating houses which have not filed their menus with the board, as covered by repeated requests, are in violation of the order and subject to penalty.

Waring urges price panels to check their sections and see that all filing is complete; also to see that all menus have been sent in and that they are filed in the board office so as to be readily available.

Gardeners Warned Of Second Mexican Bean Beetle Attack

Victory gardeners who have already harvested one crop of snap beans and are optimistically looking forward to another "long green" harvest are warned by County Farm Agent Ralph F. McHenry to also look forward to the second crop of Mexican bean beetles which are just about ready to rumba down the healthiest looking rows.

Since the life cycle of the insect is completed within thirty-three days, there are always two complete broods in one season in this section, McHenry said, and it is usually the second that gives the most trouble. The most effective method of combatting the second brood is to pull up the vines from the first crop and destroy them before the eggs can develop to the adult stage, he pointed out.

If infestations are already in evidence, McHenry advises one or two applications of rotenone insecticide to the undersurface of the leaves. For lima or pole beans he suggests one or two applications until the crop is harvested, since rotenone will control and destroy the beetles.

Although rotenone has been placed on a rationing basis, it is to be had in Cumberland without difficulty, McHenry said. Gardeners are reminded, however, of the new war production board regulation requiring the rotenone purchaser to obtain a permit authorizing his purchase from the agricultural war board.

Despite the availability of rotenone, the most effective procedure is to clean up after the first bean crop, McHenry stated. If everybody followed such procedure, he added, there might not even be a second brood of beetles.

Those applying for rations must have resided in West Virginia for the past sixty days and must be twenty-one years old. Applicants also must present War Ration Books two and three.

FIRE AT MT. SAVAGE PLANT MAY CAUSE WORK STOPPAGE

MT. SAVAGE, July 22. — Fire caused minor damage to a Diesel engine operating the automatic kiln at the Union Mining Company plant here tonight, according to workmen, who added that the damage probably will be sufficient to cause a short work stoppage.

Firemen from Mt. Savage and Corriankville were called about 10:30 p. m. when a water stoppage and a backfire of the Diesel engine ignited oil, but the flames were extinguished without damage, workmen said.

As firemen prepared to leave, the flames flared up again. Frostburg firemen also were summoned and arrived after the flare-up. The fire was out at 11:30 p. m. but firemen remained at the scene.

Workmen explained that after the water stoppage oil was not washed away from the Diesel engine. A backfire ignited the accumulated oil, they related.

Eugene Sipes Is Named Green Ridge State Forest Superintendent

Eugene Sipes, of Little Orleans, has been appointed forest superintendent of Green Ridge State Forest, William H. Johnson, district forester, announced yesterday.

The new superintendent will be stationed at the forest headquarters on Fifteen-mile Creek near the site of the old CCC camp.

Sipes, who served in the same position a number of years ago, succeeds Herbert F. Robertson, who left in October to take a pre-radar course with the army signal corps. Sipes had previously been employed as foreman at Camp S-53 of the Civilian Conservation Corps.

District Forester Johnson also stated yesterday that berry pickers are asked to be particularly careful during the current dry season not to do anything that might lead to forest fires.

Brick Company Plant Is Being Dismantled

Dismantling of the old No. 1 plant of the Union Mining Company at Mt. Savage was disclosed last night by Fred C. Strickland, general manager.

Strickland said use of the plant has been discontinued because insulated brick formerly manufactured there is now being made at Jackson, Ohio.

Pipe and shafting in the plant have been sold to the Waingold junk firm, Strickland said.

Plans of Postwar World Discussed In New Volume

"Prefaces for Peace" Listed among Latest Books at Local Library

A collection of some of the plans offered for the postwar world is contained in "Prefaces for Peace," which is now listed among the new books at the Cumberland Free Public Library.

"Prefaces for Peace" is a symposium consisting of "Problems of Lasting Peace," by Herbert C. Hoover and Hugh Gibson; "One World," by Wendell L. Willkie; "Price of Free World Victory," by Henry A. Wallace; and "Blueprint for Peace," by Sumner Wells.

Irving Stone's new book "They Also Ran," which is also available at the library, is the story of the men who were defeated for the presidency.

Nineteen Men Discussed

Mr. Stone discusses nineteen men who shared an identical fate. This volume in which the author depicts the triumph or tragedy of the people's choice is one of real drama, written with a flair that makes history of contemporary interest.

Another important title is "Western Star" by Stephen Vincent Benet which will interest the many admirers of Benet's famous narrative poem "John Brown's Body." Pulitzer prize winner in 1929. This new poetic work, published posthumously, deals with the westward migration.

"Wild Cats over Casablanca," by Lt. Malcolm T. Wordell and Lt. Edwin N. Sells is the story of the Grumman Wildcat fighter squadron which operated from a carrier to protect the American landing operations at Casablanca.

Other worthwhile additions include:

"The Last Days of Sevastopol," by Boris Yevstokhov — an eye witness story of a great Russian campaign written by a Russian.

Aviation Cadet Recruiting Drive Will Open Soon

Plans Are Completed for Campaign in Western Maryland Area

Plans were completed last night by Lieut. T. E. Carlson, of Western Maryland District squadron 331, Civil Air Patrol, and Capt. Lee R. Conley, chief of the aviation cadet examining board in Baltimore, for the aviation cadet recruiting drive in the Western Maryland area.

The cadet drive is the first assignment on recruiting activities that the CAP has had from the army air corps since it assumed complete jurisdiction. Committees composed of civil air patrolmen will work in Frostburg, Lonaconing, Westernport and Cumberland where air corps films will be shown and meetings held for men between the ages of 17 and 26 who are interested in aviation.

Applicants will be given a preliminary physical and a final mental test at the local army recruiting station. If they pass these successfully they will be sent to the examining board in Baltimore for a final physical examination.

After being passed by the Baltimore board, they will receive only one month of basic military training as compared to the thirteen weeks' basic training required if they enter through their draft board in the usual manner.

Upon completion of the month's training, cadets will take what will be known as a pre-pre-flight training which will last five months. From here they will be assigned to an air force classification center and qualify as pilots, bombardiers or navigators. The road then leads to wings and commissions.

With Capt. Conley from the Baltimore board were Corp. Daniel Elmer and Pfc. Calvin Kovens who will also assist Lieut. Carlson and Tech. Sgt. Clarence L. Blehn in the campaign here. Capt. Conley said last night that he administered the new mental examination to five applicants here yesterday and all five of them passed.

Contacts will be maintained throughout the campaign with CAP members in Taneytown, Hagerstown and Frederick who will work with the Baltimore officials in connection with the Western Maryland District squadron.

Sales of Auto Use Stamps Increasing

The sale of auto use stamps, which lagged here during the first two weeks of the month, are now comparing favorably with sales of previous years, James W. Webster, assistant postmaster, announced yesterday.

Sales at the close of business yesterday were estimated at 7,850 as compared with 10,253 a year ago. Total sales by July 31, 1942 were 10,554.

The current campaign by the internal revenue office in reminding motorists who have not done so to purchase stamps is having its effects, as evidenced by the sale of $1,000 worth of the stickers Wednesday.

Richard J. Staken, deputy internal revenue collector here, said 141 motorists were warned Wednesday by agents of the local office.

Real Estate Transfers

The following real estate transfers were made in deeds filed for record in circuit court yesterday:

Permits Available For Slaughtering "Backyard" Stock

New Regulations Legalize Butchering for Home Use, Frazee Says

Provisions for legalized slaughter of "backyard" produced livestock for home consumption were made this week in instructions issued by the New York Regional Office of the Food Distribution Administration to its area supervisors, William L. Frazee, meat supervisor here, announced yesterday.

Under the regulations, persons other than farmers who have raised livestock "in whole or substantial part" may apply to their county meat board for a permit to slaughter. The meat committee will make a recommendation to the area supervisor, who in turn will issue the necessary butcher permit. Holders of such permits may perform the slaughter themselves if they have the facilities or hire a custom slaughterer.

The limitation contained in the phrase "in whole or substantial part" excludes the outright purchase of a finished meat animal which has been raised by the dealer and purchased with the obvious intent of converting it immediately into meat, Frazee said.

The provision does apply to the many persons, particularly in smaller communities, who have raised meat animals as a contribution to the wartime food supply, much in the same manner that they have planted Victory gardens.

"These people, having no previous slaughtering record, would be unable legally to kill their meat under the general provision of Food Distribution Order No. 27, which regulates wartime slaughtering," Frazee said. "This order was formulated after conferring with butchers and packers, and has been effective since April 1. Under it persons who were established slaughterers in the past were granted permits and the door was thus closed to newcomers who might try to enter the business solely to take advantage of the artificial demand for meat created by war conditions."

British Mother Broadcasts to Local Woman

Mrs. Howard Taylor Is Thrilled at Hearing Program from London

"It was like a bit of England dropped on my doorstep," Mrs. Howard Taylor, 778 Fayette street, said last night in describing her reaction to being one of three American mothers to whom remarks were addressed by British mothers on a short-wave broadcast Wednesday night from London.

The program, known as the "Bridge Builders" and designed to foster greater understanding in Anglo-American relations, was broadcast by the British Broadcasting Company and repeated last night, Mrs. Taylor said.

She explained that she had received a telegram from the British Broadcasting Company's New York office suggesting that she listen to the short wave broadcast from London when British mothers calling American mothers would request that she be notified. The telegram also gave the wave lengths on which the program could be heard.

It was very thrilling to hear her name and address given and to have the two mothers address their words to her, Mrs. Taylor said. One of the mothers spoke of her eighteen-year-old boy, David, and "strangely enough," Mrs. Taylor added, "I also have a son, David."

The second mother told her about her two children, her husband's being in the service and the work she was doing in an office in order to release a man for fighting.

Mrs. Taylor explained that her eight-year-old daughter, Patricia Ann, had written to a blind man and woman who had appeared on the same program last winter. She received a reply from them in May, and her mother said it was probably from Patricia Ann's letter that her name was selected for this broadcast. Coincidentally, the Taylors, themselves, are also English.
